The project

The firm Verzuimreductie offers organisations a broad range of services relating to absence consultancy and occupational health and safety. Moekotte was requested to implement a multifunctional solution in the field of applied technology for two departments within this company.

The assignment

Moekotte installed all of the data cabling, plus the corresponding patch panel. Furthermore, the works comprised the installation of an audio and video system, the latter of which comprised several screens, and the adaptation of the existing electrical system. All of the work was carried out by Moekotte's own engineers.

The result

Thanks to the versatile solution offered by Moekotte, approximately 40 workstations are now electronically linked with one another. This increased efficiency, mutual communication, and coordination and therefore also productivity. Last but not least, the clients of Verzuimreductie can use various screens in the waiting room to help them to get into the right frame of mind for the appointment they are about to have with Verzuimreductie, by making targeted choices of TV images.
